

The Editors of Twentieth Century Literature announce the establishment of
THE HOFSTRA UNIVERSITY
 TCL PRIZE IN LITERARY CRITICISM

On the occasion of its 50th anniversary in 1985, Hofstra University will confirm its continuing commitment to academic excellence by founding the TCL Prize in Literary Criticism. The prize will be awarded annually by Twentieth Century Literature to the author of that essay submitted to the journal during the preceding year which is judged to make the most outstanding contribution to our understanding and appreciation of the literature of this century. Finalists will be determined by the editors and by members of the editorial board. A prominent critic will serve as judge to choose the winning essay.

The first award will be made in the spring of 1985 as part of Hofstra University's 50th anniversary celebrations. The winning essay each year will be printed as the lead article of the spring issue of Twentieth Century Literature. The author will be awarded a cash prize of $500.

All essays submitted to the journal are eligible for the award. For proper submission form, see A NOTE FOR AUTHORS at the front of the journal.

DEADLINE for submissions: All essays to be considered for the 1985 TCL Prize must be received at the journal offices by 15 MARCH 1985.
